All of the articles, reports, training material, and other information provide on our "Backup" and "School" websites comes from the abundant amount of reading materials and information shown above. Also using C/Net and other search engines.

These publishers and companies are a big, large part of our knowledge base about the computer industry.

Also, the editor of our articles has over thirty-seven (37) years experience in the computer industry. His first computer was an NCR 500 (1972) using accounting software to track $20M+ inventory in warehouses.
